❖ Involvement with the Indian Council of Social Science and Research (ICSSR), Government of India

ICSSR was established in 1969 by Government of India to promote research in social sciences in the country which has led to SDG policy development in the national context. Few of the KIIT's themed based research are to Improve Agriculture, Groundwater Quality, and Women's Well-Being and create a more sustainable and equitable future for the region. By maximising nitrogen utilisation, the Nitrogen Management in Agriculture initiative aims to reduce fertiliser costs and increase the use of natural resources. This provides a route to healthier and more successful farming methods throughout South Asia. The Anthropogenic and Geogenic Contamination of Groundwater in Bhubaneswar Urban Catchment Project investigates how waste disposal, population expansion, and industrialisation affect groundwater quality, and the results will help guide government policy regarding the preservation of groundwater resources. The Swachh Bharat Mission's initiative in Odisha, "Relationship between Household Sanitation and Women's Experience of Menstrual Hygiene," focuses on the crucial connection between menstrual hygiene and household sanitation in underdeveloped areas. The findings offer insightful information to decision-makers, thereby promoting women's economic empowerment and well-being.

Art of Giving (AoG) Aligned with KIIT SDG Initiative

The Art of Giving (AoG), conceptualized by Prof. (Dr.) Achyuta Samanta, Hon'ble Founder of KIIT and KISS, is a global humanitarian movement rooted in compassion, generosity, and social responsibility. At KIIT Deemed to be University, AoG reflects the institution's deep commitment to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by promoting inclusive growth, equality, and holistic well-being for all.

Guided by the philosophy of "giving as a way of life" AoG inspires students, faculty, and communities to practice empathy and contribute to social upliftment. On 17 June, each year, KIIT and KISS celebrate Art of Giving Day through large-scale national and international campaigns encompassing food distribution, community service, educational support, and health initiatives. These impactful actions directly advance SDG 1 (No Poverty), SDG 2 (Zero Hunger), SDG 3 (Good Health and Well-being), SDG 4 (Quality Education), and SDG 10 (Reduced Inequalities).

Beyond its social outreach, AoG strongly aligns with SDG 17 (Partnerships for the Goals) by fostering collaborative networks that unite individuals, institutions, and organizations for collective social impact. AoG initiatives are implemented in partnership with government bodies, NGOs, corporates, educational institutions, and international agencies, reinforcing KIIT's vision of shared responsibility and cooperative progress.

Through these collaborations, AoG Day reaches millions across India and beyond, amplifying the impact of KIIT's humanitarian mission. By promoting cooperation, knowledge exchange, and joint action, AoG embodies the true spirit of global partnership envisioned in SDG 17.

In essence, the Art of Giving at KIIT transforms compassion into action and partnerships into progress—advancing multiple SDGs while nurturing a culture of kindness, inclusivity, and sustainability that defines KIIT's global identity and social commitment.

In 2024, The celebration took place in 25,000 locations across 200 countries, with millions of followers participating worldwide.
